PART FIRST,
OF A NEW
ANGLO CHINESE DICTIONARY, QUARTO,
BY THE
REV. W. LOBSCHEID,
COURT AND PUNTI DIALECTS.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

THIS WORK was commenced in November, 1864, the computation of the author then being that it could be comprised in one thousand four hundred pages, and would occupy two years. Many unlooked for obstructions, chiefly of a typographical nature, materially retarded the progress of the work in the first instance, and these being overcome, the author discovered that he had underestimated the extent and the importance of the vast task he had undertaken, and that it would occupy fully double the time and space which he had at the outset computed.

The publication of a work of such magnitude, and presenting so many and such varied obstacles, seldom falls to the limited resources of one single individual, as occurs in this case. The first part of the work is now issued, partly at the request of the author and partly to afford the Foreign Community of China an opportunity of extending that assistance to the publisher, which under the circumstances is usually so freely accorded.

The price of the book complete, will be $30, and it will be published in four parts at $7.50 each. But this objection presents itself to the sale of the parts separately, should the purchaser of one or more parts not take the others, a number of incomplete, and consequently valueless, copies will be left on the publisher's hands. To remedy this objection, in consideration of the circumstances already alluded to, it is hoped that those who see fit to patronise the undertaking by purchasing the first part, will not object to signing an engagement to take the remaining parts as they appear, or should they prefer it, to pay for the entire work in advance.

Missionaries supplied at Trade Price.
Daily Press Office, Hongkong, 15th Oct., 1866.

THE BUSINESS of the Undersigned, on and after the 1st of November, will be conducted in their NEW PREMISES, in the Queen's Road Central.

CIRCULAR.

THE Machinery of ...... Gindell having been disposed of, and the present proprietor being anxious to remove the same, unless the amount of $600 is paid over to him, the Community will consider it of sufficient interest to keep the only useful bookbinding establishment intact, and to prevent the removal of the machinery to another place. The amount necessary to secure the machinery is $600, of which $200 will be paid by one party, and $200 by other friends. The remaining $400 could easily be subscribed in small sums, Mr. Gindell engaging to work the amount off as the work is presented to him.

HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 8, 1866.

So far as European politics are concerned, the present mail brings us no intelligence of fresh events, but simply indicates the progress of the German consolidation. With the farewell speeches, superfluous acts of abdication and nominal transfers of thrones going on in the back ground amongst the smaller princes, we cannot feel much interest now. For good or evil, the small states of Germany have become things of the past, the King of Prussia crowns himself with laurel wreaths and settles the fate of the continent at his leisure. Although the discussions about the Eastern question may be the first mutterings of a coming storm, it is not in any way imminent. The dangers of renewed war such as they were, are over. France, with a new prime minister who is most remarkable for having been the French ambassador at Berlin during the Crimean war, and whose accession to power at the present moment is manifestly an act of conciliation intended to remove all intended recollection of the recent demand for a rectification of the Rhine frontier by Drouyn de Lhuys, is tranquil for the present, and the Emperor has retired to Biarritz. Austrian politics have already shown that in future, in the immediate future that is, they must centre at Pesth. The gradual digestion of Germany by Prussia is all that seems likely to go on in Europe for some little time. A faint reference to the fate of North Schleswig is made, by a rumor that the French and Russian Governments had applied to the Court of Berlin recommending an immediate vote in that district, in accordance with the undertaking entered into by Prussia, but an official Prussian paper contradicts the story asserting with offended dignity that Prussia knows how to fulfil the conditions of the treaty of Prague. Perhaps the world will, in spite of the assurance of the North German Gazette feel more certain of this after the conditions have been fulfilled, as the events of recent years have not had a strong tendency to convince by-standers that the Prussian Government is mainly influenced by respect for written obligations.

Elsewhere than in Europe lies the interest of the present news. The vague talk of Fenian disturbances on the Canadian frontier have for some time past been coming to us occasionally, but there is something about Fenianism that strikes most Englishmen as essentially ridiculous, and it has been difficult to believe that any serious annoyances could spring from such extraordinary nonsense. The insurrection which ended in the famous cabbage garden was less absurd, because it was nearer in point of time to the period at which Ireland had real motives for rebellion, than the Fenian movement which though it has rendered necessary the temporary suspension of the Habeas Corpus act, and has gone far as it now seems to embroil two great Governments in a war, has seemed from the first more a subject for Punch than a sober manifestation of political feeling. The Centres and head Centres, and the farcical senate in New York need have disturbed English minds little enough had it not been for the fact that the rioters had an opportunity of distinguishing themselves on the Canadian frontier, which it was out of reason for them to hope they could ever have in Ireland itself. The frontier of Canada is permanently exposed to violation. The province can be invaded at any time by a corporal's guard or a gang of drunken rowdies, and unless the government of the United States regards these acts as what they are, insults to itself, to be prevented from the same motives which would lead it to prevent a riot in Washington, the irritation they create will be continued until some evil results on a large scale arise. The Canadian papers are already declaring war against the Union, and though this is happily a premature outburst of enthusiasm, a grievance which remains in existence, and the government through whose act it has arisen makes no effort to check, is capable of producing almost any result. The truth is that the American government was distinctly wrong in allowing the Fenian movement to assume the proportion it reached in New York. The explanation of this tolerance on its part is probably to be found in a lurking feeling of anger surviving the Alabama business. The American people at any rate, whether the government was better informed about the facts or no, were under the impression that we were guilty during the war of conniving at the breach of the Foreign Enlistment act, and sanctioning the construction of Confederate cruisers at our ports. That the English Government did really all that the law allowed it to do in stopping the supply of cruisers to the South, in some cases went beyond the law in doing this at a time when the sympathies of the English people were strongly excited in favor of the Confederate struggle for liberty, is well known to impartial readers of English newspapers. While the export of arms and all manner of warlike munitions to the Northern States, against which was no direct law, went on freely, the government stopped the exit of several vessels and endeavoured to stop that of all, which were built in any of its ports for the younger Government. An act which though designed to meet a totally different set of circumstances was, as it happened in existence, the representatives of the United States government claimed its exercise in their favor and it was loyally so exercised to the extent of the legal power in the hands of the British ministry. The Alabama and a few others evaded the restrictions of the law, however, and became very famous, and the American people conceived the idea that their escape was intended, that we were snakes in the grass and so forth. Shortly afterwards it happens that there is a violation of neutrality laws on their territory and directed against the interests of Great Britain. It is painful to see that which seems to be the case, that the American government is tolerant of this breach of law in revenge for what is erroneously supposed to have taken place previously in England. In this case there is no sort of question about the power of the government to exercise its authority. When a body of persons take a building in New York and calling themselves the senate of a foreign country, hatch conspiracies against its government, the American Government could put a stop to the whole movement if it chose. It is only by its direct sanction that such proceedings could go on for a week, and now we hear of new operations, hostile raids on the Canadian frontier planned on United States territory. That such movements have no honest political purpose, however absurd, is manifest. If the Fenians landed in Bantry Bay, and endeavoured to entrench themselves in Macgillicuddie's Reeks, there would at any rate be something done which looked as if it was undertaken on behalf of Ireland, but a New York Fenian who commits robbery and murder on the frontiers of Canada, might as well operate against Kwang-tung for all the good he can possibly do his beloved country. Such outbreaks are just the practical ravings of political lunacy, but not the less are Canadian farms robbed and the lives of inhabitants sacrificed or endangered. Under these circumstances they will not be disposed to make allowances for the feeling of irritation surviving the Alabama case, and will be unable to see more than that American cities are allowed to be the dens of the banditti by whom they are outraged. English sympathies with the Canadians are very keen, and in this way the miserable Fenian nonsense like the prick of a poisoned pin, seems capable of giving rise to far-reaching mischief of which at first no one could have dreamed in connexion with its phenomena.

Mdme. Anna Bishop will give the second of her series of concerts to-night in the newly arranged room at the Oriental Hotel. On this occasion a new programme is advertised, and Mdme. Bishop will appear as Amina, in the last scene from "La Sonambula."

The Amateurs of the 20th Regiment gave their second entertainment last night at the North Garrison Theatre before a well attended house. As usual, Miss Annie Hill played her part to the delight of the audience and the whole affair went off with eclat. Mr. W. F. Cutbrush both as "Bullfrog" in the first piece, and Mr. Hector Timid," in the second proved capital, "Old Grumbo" and "Captain Cannon," by A. Longmore were also capitally sustained.

A Justifiable Growl.

To the Editor of the "Daily Press."

Sir,—In your report of the proceedings of the police court in to-day's issue, I am brought before the public charged with a brutal act and fined $25 for what, for having in the discharge of my duties as Wharfinger at the H.K. and M. S. B. Co's Wharf, endeavoured to quell a disturbance between the coolies of the Post Master and the men in charge of the Wharf.

The coolies asserted that "I set my dog upon them, which bit them." I solemnly denied the charge before the magistrate, and I emphatically assert my innocence now, I admit that my dog did bite the coolies, what more natural to a dog (whose hatred to the Chinese is instinctive) to follow coolies when they run and attack them without being encouraged to do so.

I feel that a gross outrage and injustice has been done me, and that to satisfy and vindicate the justice and equity of the Police Jurisdiction, and to soothe the feelings of a Brother Magistrate whose coolies were to blame, I was brought up in the Police Court and mulcted out of $25. I think, Sir, it behoves the European Citizens of Hongkong to look to their rights and manfully assert them, and to look upon my case, as a specimen of what they can expect from the erudite judge who presided.—Your &c. H. S.

Hongkong, 6th November, 1866.

Supreme Court.

In the case, the Hotel Company v Douglas Lapraik, the Attorney General, in reference to the direction of the Judge, argued that the advertisement was a document which the court was bound to construe instead of leaving this point to the jury. This point which was not made sufficiently clear in our report will, we understand, be made the point d'appui for new proceedings.

Police Intelligence, November 6th.

Before C. C. Smith Esq.

Larceny.

Num-a-chun, an emaciated, half clothed, miserable looking object, was charged with stealing a bundle of firewood from outside the Sun-shing shop in Gilman's Bazaar.

Kwan-kum-yune, master of the shop, stated that about seven last evening, he saw prisoner seize a bundle of fire wood from a stack just outside the door of his shop. He called out and prisoner dropped the bundle and ran away, prosecutor ran after him, and he was stopped by a Portuguese and conveyed to the station.

Ho-yuk-yune, an assistant in the shop, was watching the pile of firewood last night, in consequence of his master having missed a good deal of wood lately, he saw the prisoner seize the wood and run.

Prisoner said he lives opposite the fire-wood shop and was only standing close by the pile when seized, he did not attempt to take any of the wood.

He was committed to gaol for fourteen days with hard labour.

November 7th.

Vagrants.

John Wallace, seaman, also unemployed, was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

P. C. 373, arrested him in Queen's Road about 11 p.m. last night, he was so drunk that he had to be put into a chair and conveyed to the station.

Prisoner, the same as the last, also had no money and was going to Macao to-night to get a ship, having no money he expected to raise the requisite amount by selling some of his clothes.

He was also sent to gaol for a fortnight as a vagrant.

An Unlikely Story.

Chan achow, employed on board a steamer now lying at Aberdeen, was charged with throwing stones at a constable and making use of abusive language to him.

P. C. 289, last evening was on duty at Aberdeen, and prisoner and some others abused him from a boat and threw stones at him; when the boat came alongside the wharf he arrested prisoner, and the others got away, he struggled and tore witness' uniform coat and gave a deal of trouble.

Prisoner denied the charge, he did not throw stones at the constable and the latter tore his own coat seizing hold of him, he was merely washing himself after having done his work, and the constable came up to him and charged him with being a thief, and wanted to arrest him.

The magistrate thought it extremely improbable that prisoner should throw stones at the constable without any provocation, and as the latter owned that the stones did not hit him, the prisoner was discharged.

Unlawful Possession of Cotton.

A very small boy was charged with being in unlawful possession of a bag of Cotton, weighing about twenty pounds.

P. C. 108, in Wanchi last evening, saw prisoner walking along with the bag of cotton now in court, he hailed him to stop, instead of doing which he ran into a godown, dropped the bag, and ran into another godown, where after some search witness discovered him hidden.

The boy said he was was ordered by his father who had brought the cotton from the Yune hop, shop, to carry it home, but when the policeman called out to him he was so frightened that he ran away and hid himself.

Foon-ahon, master of the Yune-hop shop said he did sell some cotton to prisoner's father; the boy was therefore discharged.

Stealing three bottles of Brandy.

Lam-tuck-loong, unemployed, was charged with stealing three bottles of brandy.

P. C. 108, deposed to meeting prisoner in Bonham Road at about 11 a.m. on the 5th inst.

Prisoner stated that the brandy came from a shop in Queen's Road and he was employed to carry it.

The master of the shop was sent for but knew nothing of the prisoner and had no brandy of the brand produced, in his store.

Prisoner was accordingly convicted of unlawful possession and sent to gaol for one month with hard labour.

Unlicensed Coolie Houses.

Messrs. Deane, Tonnochy, and Jarman, accompanied by a party of police, paid a visit to the purlieus of Tai-ping-shan last night, and rooted out four of these dens, arresting no less than 39 prisoners.

Mr. Tonnochy, in his official capacity as Registrar General acted as prosecutor.

Eight of them were first brought forward, and Mr. Tonnochy said that from information received he arrested the prisoners in a house in Market street Tai-pin-shan at 12 last night; the door was open and one man was keeping watch at the door, on entering, they all scattered in different rooms. They could give no account of themselves but said the house was a coolie house, and pointed out 2nd prisoner as the master. It is not a licensed house, and Mr. Tonnochy believes it to be the resort of thieves.

The second prisoner said that he was a teacher of English, and the other prisoners were his pupils. When asked for a sample of his English, he replied that he could not speak Hongkong English, but made an attempt to say something like "savee Chena smart boy."

Mr. Tonnochy stated that it was only a one storied house consisting of two rooms, one occupied by the 2nd prisoner. It was perfectly destitute of furniture, boxes, or clothing of any kind.

The rest of the prisoners gave various accounts of themselves, chiefly they were either hawkers without a license or coolies who lived in the house, which was rented by one Lee-a-man who is at present in Canton.

The magistrate said he should consider the second prisoner as master of the house, and as he did not much like the account some of the others gave of themselves he condered that No. 2 taught them something else besides "pidgun" English, he should therefore require him to find security for his good behaviour for six months, and discharge the rest, as nothing positive could be proved against them.

The second batch consisted of twelve more blackguards, whom Mr. Tonnochy stated that he found in a house in Pound lane, which he has reason to believe is the resort of thieves. The eighth prisoner said he was the master, and that it was a coolie house. The rest of the prisoners all tried to hide themselves in different parts of the house, and No. 12 is an old offender, who had on a false queue which has slipped off, and tried to escape. It is not a licensed house.

William Burst, recognised the last prisoner to have served six months in gaol for larceny, and was discharged about ten days ago.

This lot, as the last, also gave various accounts of themselves, some that they lodged in the house and others that they were only there temporarily in consequence of having been burnt out by the fire. No. 8 said he was a carpenter and rented this house since the fire, a number of people had come to him and asked to be allowed to sleep there as they had no other place to go, and he had taken them in.

Mr. Tonnochy said that this was a very bad house indeed he had various complaints from people in the neighbourhood as to its being a den of thieves, and that it was well situated for running in and escaping from, there was neither bamboos or ropes used by coolies in the place, nor any thing to show that they practised any lawful calling.

The magistrate said he should convict prisoner No. 8 of keeping an unlawful coolie house, and punish him more severely for having such a set of vagabonds under his roof, he therefore fined him $25. The 12th prisoner was ordered to find two securities of $100 each for his good behaviour, for six months, and the rest two of $50 each for three months.

The next, was a lot of eleven men and one woman whom Mr. Tonnochy found in a house in Hollywood Road, supposed to be the resort of thieves and gamblers and also a sly brothel, the front part is fitted up as such, and in the back was a large bare room. There were several prostitutes in the house and the woman said that she was mistress the 6th prisoner was also pointed out as the master.

The first prisoner said it was his family residence and he lived there with his wife (pointed out in court) she was sent out, and prisoner asked the date whem arrived? what he paid for his wife? &c. To the first question he answered the year before last, and the woman on being asked the same question said ten years ago. Another said he was a singer; six were coopers who rented a room from the woman, the 12th prisoner, as did some others who said they had their wives there and whose accounts did tally together.

The woman was told that she was certainly proved guilty of keeping an unlicensed coolie house, for which she was fined $10, and the 6th prisoner not being able to give a very good account of himself was required to find two securities in $50 each, for his good behaviour for three months. The rest were discharged.

The fourth and last batch consisted of eight miserable wretches who had been found in a collar in Square Street. The door was barred, and Mr. Tonnochy had to break it open. It was a wretched place with no light in it, the entrance was down a steep ladder. The first prisoner said it was a coolie house and he was the master. Several of the prisoners can be identified as old offenders

Hurst knows the 4th, 7th, and 8th prisoners as being old offenders, No. 7, having been deported once for certain, if not twice, he was several times in gaol.

These three were required to find two securities in $100 each for their good behaviour for six months, the first was fined $15 for keeping an unlicensed coolie house and harbouring vagabonds therein, two were treated as destitutes, and two more required to find $50 security for their good behaviour for three months.

The Great Robbery at the Fire.

The case of the six boatmen charged with the robbery of $[illegible]50 on the night of the fire, the property of the Yuen-fat-kong, was resumed to-day. Mr. Pollard instructed by Mr. Caldwell appeared for the prosecution and Mr. Barnard for the prisoners.

Mr. Pollard first recalled, Ng-asing who states that the box in court is the one which he saw put into the boat and which was missing next morning, he saw the money put into it, and knows it was in the box when the latter was put into the boat, he saw it put into the main hold with other boxes on the top, but cannot say which of the prisoners it was who put it below.

By Mr. Barnard.

I was there myself when the box was put on board, it was given to the boatmen by some of our own men, there were no other boxes of a similar description, but one wooden box which contained account books. I did not mention to the boatman that the box contained dollars, but the coolie told me he did, there were eight boats in a cluster employed by our hong about a foot or two apart. I was on board prisoners boat about 3 p.m. I remained on board that one boat all night; I heard no noise of removing anything, there were "several tons" of boxes on board altogether. I asked the men about 8 o'clock when I went on board if the money box was all right, and they said, yes, it was in the hold. I cannot recognise the man who did so. The boatmen from the other boats might have come on board during the night but I should have known it. I went to sleep after shoving off from the wharf, but there were no other boats near us at that time. I could not see the money box from where I was sitting. It was in the morning when I missed it and at once made the loss known.

Atung, cross examined by Mr. Barnard. When took the box into the boat I said this contains money, and they answered never mind, you can get it in the morning. All the prisoners were present when I said this and they all answered and each said the same thing. I did not stay in the boat. Aeing followed me down, and was just walking along the plank on board the boat, about eight feet off. When I left, the boat was still alongside the wharf and anyone could have stepped on board her from the Praya. The next morning I saw the box in another cargo boat.

Yip-lai-tong, (formerly Yip-shong,) saw the box in court picked up out of the water it was floating on top of the water, near two cheongs off prisoners boat. A little after ten o'clock he saw the box dropped over-board from prisoner's boat but could not see who dropped it.

Mr. Barnard, said that if this Worship had determined to send the case to the Supreme Court he would not detain the court of any length of time, but submitted that the case for suspicion was so small that no jury could possibly convict the prisoners on the present evidence, but if His Worship did not intend to deal summarily with the case he trusted that his clients might be admitted to bail on their own recognizances as the case itself was merely one of suspicion, and that resting merely on a slight foundation of evidence. He brought forward several theories in support of his views and said he would there leave the case in His Worship's hands.

His Worship was of opinion that this was a case for a jury and not one to be dealt with summarily, besides, the court had power only to deal with cases under £5, and he considered it right to commit the prisoners to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Pollard in reply stated that his learned friend had omitted all the salient points in the evidence, against the prisoners, (which he then proceeded to point out in detail) and that he certainly must strongly object to the first prisoner being admitted to bail at all, and submitted that even did His Worship entertain the idea of admitting the other prisoners to bail, at the ordinary rate for men in their position, say $100 each that would amount to but $500, and if his charge were true, they had already $679 the amount of the stolen property in their possession, which after paying the amount of bail would still leave them a surplus; he objected to any bail except of a substantial nature, he further submitted that the suspicion was strong against them, they had been guilty of felony either as common carriers or as hired agents, of the Yik-fat-hong; he fully concurred with his Worship that it was a case for a jury as it involved a large amount of property and a serious charge, he then dwelt upon the prominent facts of the case in a very able manner.

His Worship said that he quite agreed with Mr. Pollard in respect to the first prisoner, and had no idea of admitting him to bail. As for the others he would take two sureties of $150 each as their security.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

The Arrival of the Mail.

The P. & O. steamer Behar came in yesterday morning with the London mails of September the 26th and late telegrams to the 10th of October. These which are very brief, are as follows:—

London, 8th October.

Prussia has formally taken possession of Hanover.

The King absolved subjects from oath of allegiance.

London, 8th October.

The Times publishes an address of condolence to Colonel Crawley; and justifies retrospective verdict of Court Martial of 1863

London, 9th October.

Great reform demonstrations at Leeds in favor of manhood suffrage.

The formal incorporation of Frankfort, Cassell and Nassau with Prussia took place yesterday.

London, 10th October.

The Austrians are evacuating the Venetian fortresses and transferring them to the French Commissioners, who are re-transferring them to the Italian Municipolities.

The Empress of Mexico is mentally indisposed.

A scheme to resuscitate the Agra Bank in India will be shortly promulgated.

The Liverpool Cotton Market to-day closes firm and active.

THE MAIL NEWS.

CANADA.

The news contained in the papers by this mail is not of a very striking character except so far as the disturbances on the Canadian frontier are concerned. The Home News says,—

"The excitement caused by the apprehension of a Fenian raid appears to have diffused itself over all over Canada. A Toronto telegram to the New York papers, dated September 12th, says:—'The Hamilton Times,' 'Ottawa Post,' 'Montreal Herald,' and 'Toronto Globe' urge that the whole American people and government are responsible for the war waged by the Fenians on Canada, and that England must insist on its suppression or declare war. The papers discuss nothing but Fenianism. Brantford is in great alarm, the people and authorities believing that an advance guard of Fenians has arrived there. The town and vicinity are swarming with strange characters, and the home-guard has been ordered on duty. An excursion party from London to Cleveland, on Friday last, had to leave the latter place suddenly on account of fearing an attack from a Fenian mob. Several Volunteer companies, from both Upper and Lower Canada, are disbanding on account of unpopular appointments and other causes. The English Adjutant-General M'Dougall has become very unpopular."

The Canadian News writes:—The whole of the regular troops stationed at Montreal were, it is stated, to be formed into a flying column and to march along the frontiers. The 13th Hussars (now on their way from England) are to be quartered at Hochelaga and La Prairie. It is nearly twenty years since a cavalry regiment was at those places. Rumours were still prevalent that an immediate Fenian attack was in contemplation on the western frontier. The Canadian Executive were quite prepared; 10,000 of the new rifles having been already shipped at Quebec for the western depots.

The Kingston News says:—"Instead of continuing to bestow fulsome thanks on the American Government, Lord Derby and his Ministers had better intimate that war will be the consequence of any attack on Canada. The whole movement would then speedily be repressed and a world of trouble would be saved. Present indications point that it will be necessary for the British Cabinet to change its policy with the American Government if it is wished to preserve the peace of Canada and the honour of Great Britain."

PRUSSIA.

The triumphal entry of the Prussian troops into Berlin took place on the 20th inst. The greatest popular enthusiasm prevailed. The King was preceded by Count Bismarck and Generals Roon, Moltke, Voigtsbretz, and Blumenthal on horseback. His Majesty was presented by young girls with three laurel wreaths for himself, the Crown Prince, and Prince Frederick Charles respectively.

Replying to a congratulatory address from the Chief Burgomaster, his Majesty thanked the inhabitants for their splendid reception, which he stated was every way worthy of the occasion, declaring at the same time that the troops, not he, should be the object of their ovation.

Numerous orders were distributed and a large number of promotions made. Count Bismarck was raised to the rank of General, and was appointed commander of his Landwher regiment. The Crown Prince and Prince Frederick Charles were invested with the order "Pour le Merite," together with portraits of Frederick the Great.

An amnesty has been proclaimed for all persons who, up to the 20th inst., have been convicted of high treason or other offences against the Crown, resistance to the State authorities, violation of public order, offences committed by the press in infringement of the Press Law of the 12th of May, 1851, and for the infractions of the ordinance of the 11th of March, 1851, regulating the right of public meetings. A Royal decree has been issued, instituting a cross of honour in commemoration of the campaign of 1866. On the 21st a banquet was given by the municipality of the city. The King made a speech, of which the following were the concluding words:—"May peace be lasting, and be of equal benefit to the future of Prussia and Germany!" Then, raising his glass, His Majesty said:—"Thanks to my faithful people and my glorious army. Hurrah for the army and the people in arms! Hurrah for the Fatherland!"

The military representatives of England, France, Italy, and Russia were present at the banquet.

The King has addressed a letter of thanks to the civic authorities and population of Berlin for the brilliant reception which they have accorded to the army. The letter concludes thus:—"Such moments as these unite more closely that which was already united, and place the aim which we pursue with a unanimous, persevering, and self-sacrificing spirit—namely, the good of the Fatherland—in an ever clearer light."

The Prussian Government makes the surrender of the fortress of Konigstein the condition upon which definitive negotiations will be opened with Saxony, respecting that kingdom's future position in Germany.

The semi-official North German Gazette denies the statement of some Continental journals that, at the request of the Danish Government, France and Russia had urged the speedy resort to the plebiscitum in Northern Schleswig to decide the future destiny of that portion of the duchy. The Russian and French Governments, adds the North German Gazette, know that Prussia will carry out the Treaty of Prague.

On the 24th instant, in the Chamber of Deputies, on the vote upon the Government Bill for the sale of the Westphalian State Railway to the Berg Railway Company, the first paragraph, proposing the sale of the railway, was rejected by a large majority. The whole Bill was consequently thrown out

The Courier of Nuremberg mentions a rumour that the Grand Duke of Hesse proposes to abdicate in favour of Prince Louis, the husband of Princess Alice.

Count Bismarck is better, but by no means well.

AUSTRIA.

The Archduke Albrecht has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Austrian Army. The chief directions of the army is to be re-organised in the following manner:—The Commander-in-Chief and the Minister of War will be placed under the direction of the Emperor. The Commander-in-Chief's sphere of action will embrace all measures relative to the spirit, discipline, and improvement of the army and to the appointment of its superior officers. The Minister of War will determine and conduct the military administration.

The Minister of War and the Commander-in-Chief will be placed on an equal footing in point of authority, and in case a difference of opinion should arise they would have recourse to the decision of the Emperor. The position of the Commander-in-Chief will not encroach upon that of the Minister of War in questions of administration. No changes will be made in the organisation of the Navy.

The Emperor will visit in October the countries devastated by the war.

HUNGARY.

The Hungarian exile, Franz Pulszky, has received permission from the Emperor to take up his residence in Hungary. It is believed that he will establish a political journal in Pesth.

Discontent exists in Pesth on account of a report that the Hungarian Diet will be convoked without the previous appointment of a Hungarian Ministry.

The cholera now prevails to a greater extent than in the outbreak of 1831.

Mdme Anna Bishop.

Just at this time, while Mdme Bishop is staying in the colony, it may be interesting to our readers if we recal the facts of the wreck in which she recently suffered so severely. We are supplied with the following narrative which is taken from an English paper and is in some respects an amplification of that which we gave at the time of the occurrence.

Intelligence has been received from Hong Kong of the total loss of the ship Libelle, while on a voyage to that port from San Francisco, having on board a valuable cargo, specie to the extent of £76,000 in dollars, and a number of passengers, among whom were Madame Anna Bishop (the wife of Sir Henry Bishop, the composer), Miss Phelan, Mr. M. Schrutz, and Mr. Charles Lascelles, who with other artistes, were on a musical tour. The ship was cast on the 4th of March on an uninhabited and dangerous reef, called Wake Island, in the Chinese seas.* The passengers remained on board during the night, the sea breaking fearfully over the wreck all the while. They were all landed, with difficulty, through the breakers, the following day. After an ineffectual search over the island for water for three weeks, and suffering much privation, it became imperative to take to the boats and endeavour to reach the nearest habitable island friendly disposed to defenceless shipwrecked people. Several days were spent in finding a suitable and safe point for departure, the breakers encircling the island, which appeared to be some 20 miles in circumference. Taking such provisions and water as were saved from the wreck, the passengers were transferred to the ship's long boat, in charge of the first mate, the captain preferring another boat, and on the 27th of March both boats sailed for the Ladrone or Mariana Island. To attempt a voyage of 1,400 miles, subject to equinoctial storms, calms, and a tropical sun, with short rations, and an ocean studded with hidden rocks and coral reefs, gave but poor hopes of arriving at a port with life. However, after encountering great dangers and enduring horrible sufferings for thirteen days and nights, the long-boat arrived off the town of Guam. An error of six degrees longitude had brought them off that place. The lady passengers, and in fact every one in the boat, were in a pitiable and forlorn condition.

His Excellency Francisco Moscosey Lara, Governor of the Mariana Islands, on being apprised of their landing, directed every help and succour to be afforded them. The poor creatures were loud in their expressions of thanks for his hospitable conduct. Nothing had been heard of the other boat, containing the master and the rest of the crew, up to the departure of the last mail. They parted company on the first night after their departure from the island. Unless the boat was picked up by some chance vessel, it was apprehended it must have been swamped, as heavy cross seas were met with that night.

His Excellency has sent a schooner in search of the missing boat among the islands to the northward, and then to proceed to the scene of the wreck and recover the £76,000 in specie. It had been saved from the wreck, and had for security been buried in the island on the beach.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Hongkong, Wednesday Evening.

The movement of trade to-day shows a slight but progressive improvement, but the arrival of the mail at noon rather tended to suspend business for the remainder of the day.

The quantity of opium brought by the present mail steamer was very much smaller than had been expected, and as a consequence the market this afternoon was considerably excited, and rates advanced about $5. The closing quotations are Patna $620. Benares $605. Eleventh sales $630. The market for Malwa is not yet open but it will probably be at $800. There has been a good inquiry for Cotton, and in some cases an advance of about $1 on yesterday's prices has been obtained. Bengal staple has ruled however at about $20, sales are noted of 1,000 bales Bengal at $19 to $21.50, 450 bales Tientsin at $19.75 to $21.50 and 100 bales Shanghai at $22, a lot of extra staple Bengal brought $23. The movement in Cotton Yarn continues, and sales of 300 bales 16 24 at $185 to $190 are noted, a small lot more or less damaged by sea water offered yesterday at auction brought $187.50. There seems to have been considerable inquiry for all descriptions of piece goods, but no sales are reported, buyers seeming very unwilling to meet the expectations of holders who are very firm. Rice remains quiet.

The commercial intelligence by the present mail is very meagre, there being no later quotations than have already been previously received. The following telegram dated New York October 14th was received at Galle October 19th, and came forward by this mail. "Tea dull—stock fifteen millions." "Oolong fifty-eight, Japans sixty-five, seventy."

From late files to hand the commercial news is unimportant. The Bank rate was still 5 per cent and money was quite easy. Consuls were steady 89 to 89½. A semi-annual dividend for the period ending June 30th was to be declared in the Oriental Bank Corporation, Chartered Bank of India, and the Australia and China Bank. The affairs of Overend Gurney & Co. are described as in a most deplorable condition, and unless some arrangements were made between creditors and shareholders to stay litigation, it is feared the results would be most disastrous to all concerned. Bidding for £300,000 in bills on India at the Bank of England, showed a demand for remittances, the terms being at an advance. The receipt of the news of the failure of Royehund produced some uneasiness among the holders of India and China Bank shares, and prices were weak. The Tea market was very quiet, although the sales were much in excess of those for some time back, but prices were flat, and showed a decline on previous rates of the Earl King cargo. Green Teas were scarce and commanded full prices. Silk was very dull, and there appeared no disposition on the part of buyers to operate, prices were without alteration. Cotton was quite active and prices were tending upward.

The Black Prince and Belted Will had arrived.

THE MAIL NEWS.

CANADA.

The news contained in the papers by this mail is not of a very striking character except so far as the disturbances on the Canadian frontier are concerned. The Home News says,—

The excitement caused by the apprehension of a Fenian raid appears to have diffused itself near ly all over Canada. A Toronto telegram to the New York papers, dated September 12th, says:—"The Hamilton Times,' 'Ottawa Post,' 'Montreal Herald,' and 'Toronto Globe' urge that the whole American people and government are responsible for the war waged by the Fenians on Canada, and that England must insist on its suppression or declare war. The papers discuss nothing but Fenianism. Brantford is in great alarm, the people and authorities believing that an advance guard of Fenians has arrived there. The town and vicinity are swarming with strange characters, and the home-guard has been ordered on duty. An excursion party from London to Cleveland, on Friday last, had to leave the latter place suddenly on account of fearing an attack from a Fenian mob. Several Volunteer companies, from both Upper and Lower Canada, are disbanding on account of unpopular appointments and other causes. The English Adjutant-General M'Dougall has become very unpopular."

The Canadian News writes:—The whole of the regular troops stationed at Montreal were, it is stated, to be formed into a 'flying column and to march along the frontiers.' The 13th Hussars (now on their way from England) are to be quartered at Hochelaga and La Prairie. It is nearly twenty years since a cavalry regiment was at those places. Rumours were still prevalent that an immediate Fenian attack was in contemplation on the western frontier. The Canadian Executive were quite prepared, 10,000 of the new rifles having been already shipped at Quebec for the western depots.

The Kingston News says:—"Instead of continuing to bestow fulsome thanks on the American Government, Lord Derby and his Ministers had better intimate that war will be the consequence of any attack on Canada. The whole movement would then speedily be repressed and a world of trouble would be saved. Present indications point that it will be necessary for the British Government to change its policy with the American Government if it is wished to preserve the peace of Canada and the honour of Great Britain."

PRUSSIA.

The triumphal entry of the Prussian troops into Berlin took place on the 20th inst. The greatest popular enthusiasm prevailed. The King was preceded by Count Bismarck and Generals Roon Moltke, Voigtshretz, and Blumenthal on horseback. His Majesty was presented by young girls with three laurel wreaths for himself, the Crown Prince, and Prince Frederick Charles respectively.

Replying to a congratulatory address from the Chief Burgomaster, his Majesty thanked the inhabitants for their splendid reception, which he stated was every way worthy of the occasion, declaring at the same time that the troops, not he, should be the object of their ovation.

Numerous orders were distributed and a large number of promotions made. Count Bismarck was raised to the rank of General, and was appointed commander of his Landwehr regiment. The Crown Prince and Prince Frederick Charles were invested with the order "Pour le Merite," together with portraits of Frederick the Great.

An amnesty has been proclaimed for all persons who, up to the 20th inst., have been convicted of high treason or other offences against the Crown, resistance to the State authorities, violation of public order, offences committed by the press in infringement of the Press Law of the 12th of May, 1851, and for the infractions of the ordinance of the 11th of March, 1851, regulating the right of public meetings. A Royal decree has been issued, instituting a cross of honour in commemoration of the campaign of 1866. On the 21st a banquet was given by the municipality of the city. The King made a speech, of which the following were the concluding words:—"May peace be lasting, and be of equal benefit to the future of Prussia and Germany!" Then, raising his glass, His Majesty said:—"Thanks to my faithful people and my glorious army. Hurrah for the army and the people in arms! Hurrah for the Fatherland!"

The military representatives of England, France, Italy, and Russia were present at the banquet.

The King has addressed a letter of thanks to the civic authorities and population of Berlin for the brilliant reception which they have accorded to the army. The letter concludes thus:—"Such moments as these unite more closely that which was already united, and place the aim which we pursue with a unanimous, persevering, and self-sacrificing spirit—namely, the good of the Fatherland—in an ever clearer light."

The Prussian Government makes the surrender of the fortress of Konigstein the condition upon which definitive negotiations will be opened with Saxony, respecting that kingdom's future position in Germany.

The semi-official North German Gazette denies the statement of some Continental journals that, at the request of the Danish Government, France and Russia had urged the speedy resort to the plebiscitum in Northern Schleswig to decide the future destiny of that portion of the Duchy. The Russian and French Governments, adds the North German Gazette, know that Prussia will carry out the Treaty of Prague.

On the 21th instant, in the Chamber of Deputies, on the vote upon the Government Bill for the sale of the Westphalian State Railway to the Berg Railway Company, the first paragraph, proposing the sale of the railway, was rejected by a large majority. The whole Bill was consequently thrown out.

The Courier of Nuremberg mentions a rumour that the Grand Duke of Hesse proposes to abdicate in favour of Prince Louis, the husband of Princess Alice.

Count Bismarck is better, but by no means well.

AUSTRIA.

The Archduke Albrecht has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Austrian Army. The chief direction of the army is to be re-organised in the following manner:—The Commander-in-Chief and the Minister of War will be placed under the direction of the Emperor. The Commander-in-Chief's sphere of action will embrace all measures relative to the spirit, discipline, and improvement of the army and to the appointment of its superior officers. The Minister of War will determine and conduct the military administration.

The Minister of War and the Commander-in-Chief will be placed on an equal footing in point of authority, and in case a difference of opinion should arise they would have recourse to the decision of the Emperor. The position of the Commander-in-Chief will not encroach upon that of the Minister of War in questions of administration. No changes will be made in the organisation of the Navy.

The Emperor will visit in October the countries devastated by the war.

HUNGARY.

The Hungarian exile, Franz Pulszky, has received permission from the Emperor to take up his residence in Hungary. It is believed that he will establish a political journal in Pesth.

Discontent exists in Pesth on account of a report that the Hungarian Diet will be convoked without the previous appointment of a Hungarian Ministry.

The cholera now prevails to a greater extent than in the outbreak of 1831.

Mdme Anna Bishop.

Just at this time, while Mdme Bishop is staying in the colony, it may be interesting to our readers if we recal the facts of the wreck in which she recently suffered so severely. We are supplied with the following narrative which is taken from an English paper and is in some respects an ample fication of that which we gave at the time of the occurrence.

Intelligence has been received from Hong Kong of the total loss of the ship Libelle, while on a voyage to that port from San Francisco, having on board a valuable cargo, specie to the extent of £76,000 in dollars, and a number of passengers, among whom were Madame Anna Bishop (the wife of Sir Henry Bishop, the composer), Miss Phelan, Mr. M. Schrutz, and Mr. Charles Lascelles, who with other artistes, were on a musical tour. The ship was cast on the 4th of March on an uninhabited and dangerous reef, called Wake Island, in the Chinese seas.* The passengers remained on board during the night, the sea breaking fearfully over the wreck all the while. They were all landed with difficulty, through the breakers, the following day. After an ineffectual search over the island for water for three weeks, and suffering much privation, it became imperative to take to the boats and endeavour to reach the nearest habitable island friendly disposed to defenceless shipwrecked people. Several days were spent in finding a suitable and safe point for departure, the breakers encircling the island, which appeared to be some 20 miles in circumference. Taking such provisions and water as were saved from the wreck, the passengers were transferred to the ship's long boat, in charge of the first mate, the captain preferring another boat, and on the 27th of March both boats sailed for the Ladrone or Mariana Island. To attempt a voyage of 1,400 miles, subject to equinoctial storms, calms, and a tropical sun, with short rations, and an ocean studded with hidden rocks and coral reefs, gave but poor hopes of arriving at a port with life. However, after encountering great dangers and enduring horrible sufferings for thirteen days and nights, the long-boat arrived off the town of Guam. An error of six degrees longitude had brought them off that place. The lady passengers, and in fact every one in the boat, were in a pitiable and forlorn condition.

His Excellency Francisco Moscosey Lara, Governor of the Mariana Islands, on being apprised of their landing, directed every help and succour to be afforded them. The poor creatures were loud in their expressions of thanks for his hospitable conduct. Nothing had been heard of the other boat, containing the master and the rest of the crew, up to the departure of the last mail. They parted company on the first night after their departure from the island. Unless the boat was picked up by some chance vessel, it was apprehended it must have been swamped, as heavy cross seas were met with that night.

His Excellency has sent a schooner in search of the missing boat among the islands to the northward, and then to proceed to the scene of the wreck and recover the £76,000 in specie. It had been saved from the wreck, and had for security been buried in the island on the beach.

* Should read North Pacific Ocean Lat. 19.25, N., Long. 166.20 East, true position of Wake Island, not the China Seas.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Hongkong, Wednesday Evening.

The movement of trade to-day shows a slight but progressive improvement, but the arrival of the mail at noon rather tended to suspend business for the remainder of the day.

The quantity of opium brought by the present mail steamer was very much smaller than had been expected, and as a consequence the market this afternoon was considerably excited, and rates advanced about $5. The closing quotations are Patna $620. Benares $605. Eleventh sales $630. The market for Malwa is not yet open but it will probably be at $800. There has been a good inquiry for Cotton, and in some cases an advance of about $1 on yesterday's prices has been obtained. Bengal staple has ruled how-ever at about $20, sales are noted of 1,000 bales Bengal at $19 to $21.50, 400 bales Tientsin at $19.75 to $21.50 and 100 bales Shanghai at $22. A lot of extra staple Bengal brought $23. The movement in Cotton Yarn continues, and sales of 300 bales 16/24 at $185 to $190 are noted, a small lot more or less damaged by sea water offered yesterday at auction brought $197.50. There seems to have been considerable inquiry for all descriptions of piece goods, but no sales are reported, buyers seeming very unwilling to meet the expectations of holders who are very firm. Rice remains quiet.

The commercial intelligence by the present mail is very meagre, there being no later quotations than have already been previously received. The following telegram dated New York October 13th was received at Galle October 16th, and came forward by this mail. "Tea dull—stock fifteen millions." "Oolong fifty-eight, Japans sixty-five, seventy."

From late files to hand the commercial news is unimportant. The Bank rate was still 5 per cent and money was quite easy. Consuls were steady 89 to 89½. A semi-annual dividend for the period ending June 30th was to be declared in the Oriental Bank Corporation, Chartered Bank of India, and the Australia and China Bank. The affairs of Overend Gurney & Co. are described as in a most deplorable condition, and unless some shareholders to stop litigation it is feared the results would be most disastrous to all concerned. Bidding for £300,000 in bills on India at the Bank of England showed a demand for remittances, the terms being at an advance. The receipt of the news of the failure of Boyehund produced some uneasiness among the holders of India and China Bank shares, and prices were weak. The Tea market was very quiet, although the sales were much in excess of those for same time last year, prices were flat, and showed a decline on previous rates of the Earl King cargo. Green Teas were scarce and commanded full prices. Silk was very dull, and there appeared no disposition on the part of buyers to operate, prices were without alteration. Cotton was quite active and prices were tending upward.

The Black Prince and Belted Will had arrived.

The Atlantic Cable.

(From the "Daily Telegraph.")

"Will Fortune," asks the poet, "never come with both hands full?" Well, occasionally, in a gracious mood, she does, and precisely so she has now come to the brave body of electricians who have been at work this year tying the Old and New Worlds together with the tiny wires that annihilate space and time. A thrill of pride and pleasure, in itself like an electric shock, ran through the civilised world when it heard that the Atlantic Telegraph Cable was at last an established success. The edge of the wonder had indeed, been taken off by the momentary accomplishment of the work in the first attempt; but that early cable was so instantly struck dumb that it only served to prove the feasibility of the enterprise. There were some who flatly discredited the brief articulateness of the Atlantic rope—"smart" people, who believe in little but the end of their nose which they can always see. The perfect triumph of this year, however, put an end to all such sneers and scepticism. The work was done, and well done, and "Ariel's girdle" merely wanted a length or two here and there to make the circuit of the world, not only "ere the leviathan could swim a league," but while he was wagging his tail. For many days London has been in hourly communication with New York—a fact so wondrous the folks wisely give up any attempt to guage its import, and settle calmly down to utilise it for cotton-stuffs and daily business; as they assuredly would if the moon were reached to-morrow and found to be inhabited. The first thing would be wonder and curiosity unspeakable, and the next would be a traveller's gig taking orders "in the dry goods line" of the "Lunatics," from the "Silver Sea" to the "Gulf of Milk." But the more we grow used to the extraordinary boon of instantaneous communication with America—a boon that makes Wall street the same place for commercial purposes as Lombard-street—the more interested did thoughtful persons become in the clenching of a work so important, and especially in the attempt to fish up the cable of 1865. If, we all said, it could but be accomplished, there would be magnetic safety at once; for of two lines, one, we might hope, would always be in order—to say nothing of the fresh lines which were sure to be constructed. But could the feat be accomplished? The most sanguine shook their heads; and the shares of the old rope brightened up very little indeed at the success of the new enterprise. It lay 2,400 fathoms deep at the bottom of the Atlantic—a thousand miles from Valentia, and more than two and a half miles beneath the surface; while the big buoys laid to mark its grave had been driven off by current and gale, and all chance of re-discovery depended upon observations. True, at the time of the disappointment of last year, the electricians told us very confidently that they had repeatedly hooked the stray cable, and could have recovered it had they had grappling lines enough. Nay more, they brought up a pinch of the deep sea-ooze, which proved that they had, at any rate, touched the bottom. But, to speak candidly, we were all terribly incredulous about the chance of getting another bite from that electrical eel which had slipped through our hands. Fishing with hook and line, in water two miles and a half deep, for a thin cord, which, if you struck it, must be raised again to make it useful, seemed a desperate undertaking; still, the supplementary expedition of the great ship was regarded by the public with no feeling of despair, if with no positive anticipation of success.

And it has been successful! Positively, the searchers have fished up the cable of last year from the darkest slime of the mid-Atlantic, hauled it on board, tested it, trimmed the end a little, and sent word of their good luck through the rope itself. Such is their triumph that, by Sunday next, we may expect the second line to be at work. Even if there should be any hitch, if the new coils should part anywhere, or prove imperfect, it is at least clear that a cable is not irrecoverable. The lost line would be buoyed, observations would be taken, it could be found again, and under-run or re-spliced. The news we have by the other line shows that "bottom-fishing for cables in the Atlantic" is almost as sure a business as barbel-fishing in a well-baited swim in the Thames. The Great Eastern and her consorts grappled the rope several times; and when it broke away, they caught it again and again, until at last it was not merely hooked, but secured. If we imagine the attempt with a transposition of elements, we shall estimate its success better. Conceive a thin rope laid from London to Madrid, in and out, up and down, over the smooth marshes and the steep Pyrenees; while a balloon two miles and a half high is dragging the surface to catch it. Of course that would be impossible; but the idea brings the nature of the actual work to the mind better than any submarine imagination. The difference is that the bed of the sea presents no such obstacles as the land. The bottom where the cable lay must doubtless be strewn with the derris of millions of years—level, clear, and still; dark as night, dark as Hades, but quiet and even, with nothing to trip the grapnel in all its leagues of ooze, except the thin snaky line itself, sleeping on the blind slime, or festooned from swell to swell of its colourless, unseen banks and smooth precipices.

The searchers, it seems, triumphed only after several successful efforts. Not only did the cable break loose repeatedly, but a great deal of the grappling tackle was lost. It also appears that on one occasion they had just swung a portion on board, when it yielded to its own weight, and again plunged into the deep. But, sure of their method, they still worked on; and by the 26th of August the Albany, which got the first "bite" of all, hooked the rope again, and brought it to the surface. Then the big ship got her tackle round the line, and buoyed it. Only so lately as Saturday last she got a fresh hold to the westward, while her consorts fastened on further west still; so that the bight was again brought on board, and the end at length made fast. To the Medway belongs the special honour of accomplishing the difficult feat. When the work had been done, the good news was telegraphed to Valentia through the recovered wire, the splice was completed, and the ships sailed for Heart's Content. No reasonable doubt can exist that the line will be safely extended to Newfoundland. Thus, before a week is out, we shall be tied fast by two electric lines to the vast continent which lies so far away, over such restless and barren billows. And by what a path, too;—the gloomy unknown bottom of the great seas—depths where light itself dies, and life never comes, except in the memorials which it sends down of itself in the infinite myriad-dust of perished shell and bone and scale, the relics of the fish and molluscs of the upper waters. Mysterious and awful is the abyss; yet not so much so as it was. We used to speak of the "bottom of the Atlantic" as a perfect limbo of the lost and inconceivable. It is so no longer; we have rented the ground of Neptune, and can fish up and lay down cables there at will. Side by side the two ropes creep all the way across, and along those tendons, as by a nerve, the quick international life of commerce and amity will leap. Let us, while certain physiologists are more than ever inclined to think we were once monkeys, take courage from our electricians. Either the doctrine of the Development school is not true, or their discovery is indeed a splendid proof of what we shall be some day; for between Brazilian apes bridging a stream with their tails, and Messrs. Glass and Saward linking the hemispheres with a small blue spark and a wire, there is a similarity which is gloriously dissimilar.

Reports.

The Bremen barque Wartburg, reports having spoken the Bremen schooner Georg, off the Shantung Promontory on 30th ultimo, bound north, had strong northerly breezes on passage down.

The Bremen barque Ernst & Maria reports having spoken the Hamburg barque A. E. Fidel, Nov. 1st, in lat. 31 N., long. 120 E., bound to the northward. Vessels in Newchwang.—Oct. 28th. Bremen, Felice, and Garibaldi; Hamburg, Manilla, Amaranth, Picciola, Fidelio, Carl Ritter, Albatross, Princess, Australia, Orion and Costa Rica.

The British barque Caroline Chisholm, Deane, master, from Singapore, put in to this port on the 7th inst., having met with a succession of gales on the passage up. She left Singapore on Sept. 14th, and on October 9th, in a gale from N. to W. was struck by a sea which stove in part of the bulwarks. Next day the weather moderated, but on the 17th, she again experienced a heavy gale from the N. Eastward, with heavy sea, which caused the vessel to labor severely. On the 19th, it was blowing a complete hurricane and the wind veering Northwards, vessel laboring heavily and a high sea running, shipping large quantities of water. Barometer accidentally broken by 2nd officer. On the 20th the vessel was shipping so much water that it was impossible for the Chinese passengers to cook their rice, bread had to be served out to them. 21st, heavy gale, and cross sea, ship laboring very heavily and shipping large quantities of water, commenced to make water, all hands at the pumps, 9.30 A.M., shipped heavy sea, which carried away, bulwarks starboard quarter boat, and swept the decks, Noon, terrific hurricane storm, mizzen staysail blown clean out of the bolt-ropes. No observations, P.M. weather getting worse, ship laboring, heavily, and a fearful cross sea flooding the decks fore and aft, fore-top-sail and fore-sail, although secured with stud'dnsl gear, blew clean away from the yards, ship making much water, all hands at the pumps, fore-top-gallant sail and main top mast stay-sail also blown away. Hurricane increasing, pitched water casks and spare lumber off decks to ease to ship. 5 P.M. Shipped a sea which stove in the cabin door and flooded the cabin, fore-top-mast-staysail blew away, and the gammoning of the bowsprit gone, passed a hawser round and through the hawse pipes to the windlass, and set it up as a preventer, top gallant bulwarks aft all carried away, ship lying to under main top sail, bent fore top mast and mizzen staysails, and set the latter. Found the ship strained so heavily by the gale and making so much water, that the passengers had to take to the pumps, a quantity of copper off on both sides fore and aft, oakum working out of the sides, pall bitt and upper part of the stern post working, vessel making a deal of water through the transoms, spare sails and stores saturated. Divided passengers into lots to work the pumps.—22nd gale still continuing and heavy sea running, pumps kept going day and night. Finding the vessel strained so heavily, and deeming it impossible to reach Swatow with her in her present state, deemed it prudent to make for the nearest port and accordingly bore up for Hongkong, ship laboring very heavily, and sea making a complete breach over her. Commenced to lighten ship by throwing overboard part of the cargo, pumps continually at work, 23rd ship making very bad weather of it and washing men from the pumps, heavy gales and thick rain Noon, lat. 21.27 N. long. 115.49 E. P.M. Land bearing N. distant about 30 miles, gale moderating, 24th ship making about 9 inches water per hour, weather more moderate, 25th ship pitching heavily and making a deal of water, pumps kept continually going, several of the crew laid up from exposure, P.M. bottom at 14 fathoms, tacked to S.E. Several small junks in company. 28th, put into Namoa for provisions for the passengers, and a supply of water, 29th, and 30th, endeavouring to caulk all visible leaks, ship making 7 in. water per hour. Nov. 1 at daylight got under weigh and stood out to sea again. Winds N. Easterly, moderate breezes and fine which continued to arrival here, the pumps being kept going all the time.
